Purina Celebrates PetCare Pride Day by Hosting Pop-Up Food Pantry at its Headquarters Free food for pets and their owners provided to people in need as part of company's 20th annual day of service

ST. LOUIS (May 24, 2021) – Purina continued its tradition of giving back to pets and people in need by observing its 20th annual PetCare Pride Day: a day during the work week devoted to community service. More than 650 St. Louis-based Purina employees, along with 700 employees at Purina's manufacturing facilities across the country, volunteered their time to support pet-related efforts and nonprofit organizations in their local communities.

Due to the ongoing impact of COVID-19, and related increased need for food assistance, Purina teamed up with the St. Louis Area Foodbank to host a drive-thru, pop-up food pantry event at its corporate headquarters in downtown St. Louis. Purina CEO Nina Leigh Krueger and St. Louis Area Foodbank President & CEO Meredith Knopp joined Purina associates and Foodbank volunteers in distributing food to more than 300 households and 1,000 people in need. In addition to Purina pet food, the boxes contained items most often requested from the foodbank, including meat, dairy, produce and Gerber baby food.

St. Louis-based Purina associates also assembled 1,000 care kits for area homeless, compiled 1,000 snack pack bags for youth in need, built 150 pet beds for shelter animals, and made 500 pet enrichment toys and 150 adoption packets for local shelter and Petfinder member CARE STL, which had representatives onsite during the event with adoptable dogs.

Additionally, employees at 17 of Purina's factories volunteered their time as part of PetCare Pride Day throughout the month of May, with many teams assembling enrichment kits for animal shelters, or working out in the community, including making repairs at a local dog park and cleaning at a local animal shelter.

"For more than 126 years, Purina has supported the communities where we live and work," said Kim Beardslee, Director of Purina Community Affairs. "This past year has been particularly hard on many people and pets, so we are proud that PetCare Pride Day could continue this year and provide a measure of relief to those who need it most."

PetCare Pride Day is one of many ways Purina supports communities where its employees live and work. In 2020 the company provided more than $35 million in financial and pet food donations to nonprofit organizations across the county.
